• Neutral

Regular accounts filing

Filing your annual company accounts in a regular pattern is sign of good behaviour in the eyes of Credit Reference Agencies like Experian, as it demonstrates consistency in your business activities.

• Neutral

Consistent profitability levels

The company is considered to be reporting a consistent level of profitability. This suggests that value is being generated and funds are being sufficiently reinvested into the business. Net losses can be concerning as they weaken the company's financial position and signal underlying issues that need to be addressed.

• Neutral

Small asset base

An asset-light business can offer advantages in terms of flexibility and efficiency, but it may also expose a company to certain risks, such as reliance on external suppliers and a lack of collateral that can be leveraged by lenders to mitigate their risks when extending credit.

• Negative

Poor liquidity for working capital

A small current asset base relative to company turnover suggests that the business has insufficient liquidity to support its day-to-day operations. This raises concerns about the company's ability to meet its short-term obligations without relying excessively on external financing.

• Negative

High financial leverage

A favourable gearing ratio suggests that a company is financially stable, with a larger proportion of equity than debt in the business. This indicates that the company relies more on equity financing and has lower levels of debt relative to its assets.

• Positive

Increase in shareholders' funds

An increase in shareholders' funds typically occurs when the company generates profits or capital injection, which are retained and reinvested into the business. This indicates financial health in the business through growth and profitability.

• Positive
