- Negative impact: 2
- Neutral impact: 8

Risk factors

Based on your latest publicly filed financial statements at Companies House.

Accounts filing

Good job! The company's accounts were filed at Companies House on time. Make sure you continue to file your accounts in a timely manner.

• Neutral

Filing your annual company accounts in a regular pattern is sign of good behaviour in the eyes of Credit Reference Agencies like Experian, as it demonstrates consistency in your business activities.

• Neutral

The company is considered to be reporting a consistent level of profitability. This suggests that value is being generated and funds are being sufficiently reinvested into the business. Net losses can be concerning as they weaken the company's financial position and signal underlying issues that need to be addressed.

• Neutral

A sizable asset base can indicate that a company has reached a certain level of stability and maturity in its industry. A solid asset base can be deemed as a foundation to support ongoing operations and growth initiatives, and can provide valuable collateral that lenders can use to mitigate their risks when extending credit.

• Positive

A favourable gearing ratio suggests that a company is financially stable, with a larger proportion of equity than debt in the business. This indicates that the company relies more on equity financing and has lower levels of debt relative to its assets.

• Positive

Shareholders' funds typically occur when the company generates profits or receives capital injection, which are retained and reinvested into the business. This indicates financial health in the business through growth and profitability.

• Neutral

Neutral Impact
